(Text 1)

M: So what do you think we should give our cousin Lucy for her birthday? She's just moved into her new apartment.

W: I think she'd like a microwave. In fact, I've already had a quick look online and seen a few special offers.

(Text 2)

M: Can I help you?

W: Oh, I couldn't ask you to do that. We just met. My brother is supposed to be helping me after shopping.

M: It's no problem, really. I can help you until he gets here. After all, what are neighbors for?

(Text 3)

W: How are you getting on with your Welsh language course?

M: Not too bad actually. Other people have told me the grammar would be really hard, but actually it isn't too bad. The main issue I have to deal with is our teacher — if she spoke more slowly, I'd understand a lot more.

(Text 4)

M: What would you like to eat, Lauren?

W: I don't know, Dad. I really love fish, so let's have a look ...

M: Hmm, I can't see anything like that on the menu. There's plenty of other things like steak, chicken, all the usual stuff ...

(Text 5)

W: Music World is interesting, isn't it? Their stuff's so affordable compared with bigger stores.

M: Yes, and the bigger stores don't cut their prices massively like Music World.

W: You're right. I actually ran into the guitarist Jon Wyvern in there.

(Text 6)

M: That play was really great, wasn't it?

W: I thought the second half was a bit less interesting than the first. You could predict exactly what was going to happen.

M: Really? I wasn't sure how it would end! The actors were excellent though, weren't they?

W: Well actually I expected the performances to be a lot better. I must say though the costumes were brilliant.

M: I think you're a bit hard to please when you go to the theater, so why don't you choose the next play we see?

W: OK, well, I hope you'll like what I choose!

M: It's too hot, without a breath of wind. When's it going to end?

W: What are you talking about? It's nice! Do you want it to be cold and grey again? Why don't we go to the beach for the day? We can sunbathe, swim a little if the water's not too cold ...

M: Absolutely not! I can't stand lying in the sun. I get sweaty and then sand sticks to me.

W: So what are you going to do? Sit inside all day?

M: Let's go somewhere where it's cool inside. We could go ice skating.

W: No way! I'm not wasting a nice day like this. You go ahead, but I'm going out.

W: Hello, Tom. This is Jessica from security. I'm calling to remind you of the training session on our new security procedures. It is scheduled to take place at 2 pm on April 15th.

M: I received an email about it last week. Actually, I was going to tell you that I won't be able to make it. I need to fly to London to close a deal with our business partner on April 14th and I won't be back here until April 20th.

W: That's okay. We are planning to hold another session for anyone who can't make this first one. I'll send you an email as soon as the details are confirmed.

W: Welcome to the Leisure Programme. Today I'm interviewing Jack Hutchinson, the manager of the new leisure center that opened last month. Welcome to the program, Jack.

M: Thank you.

W: Jack, there are several leisure centers in this area. Why do you think yours has become so popular already? Is it because it has such a fantastic gym?

M: No, I don't think it's because of the gym. I think it's because so many articles have been written about us in the local newspapers. People want to see if we're as good as the journalists say.

W: So, tell us about the center.

M: Well, let's start with the pools — we've already got a very good, large swimming pool with a diving area. There's also a smaller training pool, and there are plans to build a fun pool with slides for children.

W: What about courts?

M: There are indoor courts for tennis, badminton, volleyball and basketball. The outdoor tennis courts aren't quite ready, but they'll be available next week.

W: So, in what way do you think your leisure center is better than others?

M: The facilities are of a very high quality. We offer a wide range of different activities and we have a café that sells good, healthy food.

W: Well, ... other centers offer all that, too.

M: Yes, but they don't offer our prices. Like other centers, we offer discounts to students and the over 60s, but people can also buy a membership card for just £15 a month. You pay much more for membership in other centers.

W: Welcome to all of you. I'm Sally, your guide for this tour of the Bicentennial Park. So let's get under way on our tour around this wonderful park.

I'll start today with some general background information. There used to be a lot of factories in this area until the 1960s, so most of the exciting park space all around you was originally warehouses and storehouses.

The idea of building a public park here was first discussed when a property developer proposed a high-rise housing development, but the local community wasn't happy. If the land was to be cleared up, they wanted to use the site for recreation. Residents wanted open space for outdoor activities, rather than housing or even an indoor sports complex.

Now to the Bicentennial Park itself. It has two areas, a nature reserve and a formal park with man-made features and gardens. The tall blue-and-white building in front of us is called the Tower and is the center point for the formal park. It stands twelve meters high, so follow me up the stairs to where we can take advantage of the fantastic views.
