

高三英语 3 月月考参考答案

一 . 听力部分

1-5 ABCCA 6-10 BCBAB 11-15 CCACB 16-20 BABCA

二 . 阅读理解

21-23 CDA 24-27 DCBD 28-31 CBBB 32-35 DBAC

三 . 七选五

36-40 BAFGE

四 . 完型

41-45 BCADB 46-50 ADBCB 51-55 ACDDA 56-60 CBDCA

五 . 语法填空

61. coastal 62. which 63. lying 64. carried 65. Unfortunately
66. wrapped/ was wrapped 67. awake 68. a 69. was guiding 70. on approached—approaching; stressful-stressed; play in---删去 in benefit---benefits; parts---part; but---and; closely---close ; which---whose take an active part—添加 an; their ----our 作文参考范文

六 . 短文改错

Hello, everybody! I'm very glad to share my dream with you. I have a dream that one day I could be a pianist. I dream of playing a sweet tune for those who need music, bringing happiness to sorrowful souls and enthusiasm to weary spirits.

I love music, and I love the feeling of playing music in front of the audience. Of all the instruments, the delicate yet powerful sound a piano makes impresses me most.

It's clear that I have a long way to go before I realize my dream. As is known, the secret of many great pianists' success lies in their life-long love for music and long hours of practice every day. Therefore, I will practice every day as long as time permits and learn as many songs as I can. I will put my heart into my pursuit of music and never give up.

With my perseverance and diligence, I am confident that nothing will be the barrier to make my dream come true. Thank you.

听力原文

Text 1

M: Karen, did you go to Jennifer's party last night?

W: I planned to go, but I was locked in the house by my brother when I was sleeping in my room. It was already very late when he returned from the movie.

Text 2

W: You seem to have something to say, don't you?

M: Did you hear that Mary has become CEO of an advertising company?

W: Mary? A CEO? Did you know that she always failed the examinations in high school?

Text 3

M: Are you going to the train station now?

W: No, I've changed my plan. I'm not going to Chicago today.

M: So are you going there tomorrow?

W: No, I'll be in New York for two more days.

Text 4

W: Good morning. I'd like to have this bag sent to a friend in Japan. So when do you think he will receive it?

M: It depends on which way you want it to be delivered. You can have a look here.

Text 5

W: What are you eating, Henry?

M: I'm eating some Soup Buns. They're a kind of traditional Chinese food.

W: Do they have a long history in China?

M: Yes. They became very popular as early as the Northern Song Dynasty.

Text 6

W: Peter, can you do me a favor? I'm going to the airport now. Can you help me carry my bag out to the taxi?

M: Certainly. So have you already called a taxi?

W: Yes. It's already waiting in the driveway now.

M: Good. When will your flight take off?

W: It's 2:00 pm now. The plane won't take off until two hours later.

M: Well, there's still quite a lot of time. You don't need to hurry.

W: You know, it's usually better to be early rather than late when you're catching a flight. It will take me about one hour to get to the airport.

Text 7

W: Thanks for taking me to the theme park, Mike. I had the time of my life.

M: I'm glad to hear that, Amy. I enjoyed myself there, too. There's a party at Jason's house tomorrow night. Do you want to go to it?

W: Sorry, Mike, but I have an exam the day after tomorrow. I didn't study today, you know.

M: Oh, in this case, you'd better review your lessons. Then what about going to see a horror movie after the exam?

W: Well, actually I like comedies and love stories. I really want a movie to help me relax.

M: Then let's go to a movie that can make us laugh.

W: OK.

Text8

W: Good evening, Benny's Chop House. How may I help you, please?

M: Good evening. I'd like to book a table for Tuesday or Wednesday night, please

W: Sorry, but we're fully booked every day until Thursday. Can you come that night?

M: Let me see. OK, I'll book a table for the night.

W: Good. So how many people are there in your party, please?

M: I need to book a table for a family of four. Two adults and two kids.

W: You're lucky, sir. A couple has just canceled their reservation, and we have such a table left for that night. But it's not in the smoking section. I hope you don't mind that.

M: That's fine with me. None of us smoke. As a matter of fact, we hate second-hand smoking. By the way, can we come around 7:00 pm?

W: Yes. And we close around 10:30 pm. Now may I know your name and your number, please?

M: Certainly.

Text 9

W: Do you still like reading newspapers or magazines, Mark?

M: No. Now I often read news on some famous news sites. It's more convenient.

W: Is there any impressive news today?

M: Yes. The news about a vending machine that bakes a pizza in three minutes.

W: Baking a pizza in three minutes? That's really unbelievable. So is it in the US?

M: No. It's in Rome. The machine is called "Mr. Go Pizza". It offers four different kinds of pizzas which cost between $5 and $7. There's a small glass window that allows customers to watch as their pizza bakes.

W: So what about the pizza? Does it taste good?

M: Some people called the pizza "terrible"; others were kinder. They said the pizza is OK, but they also said it's not pizza.

W: Well, Italy is well known for its pizzas. There are so many restaurants that sell pizzas. I don't think such a machine will be successful there.

M: I doubt it, too. But the machine has an advantage.

W: What is it?

M: It offers 24-hour service. It is very useful if you're hungry late at night.

Text 10

M: Eric Carle is a famous author and artist. He passed away at the age of 91. Mr. Carle's lively, creative and colorful works are loved by children from all over the world. He was the author of over 70 books for children. His famous books include The Grouchy Ladybug, The Mixed-up Chameleon and Papa, Please Get me Moon for Me. The Very Hungry Caterpillar is Mr. Carle's best-known book. It has published in 1969. Since then, over 55 million copies of the book have been sold, and it has been translated into more than 70 different languages. Most of Mr. Carle's books are meant for younger readers. Mr. Carle worked hard to reach out to students and teachers. He said that he wanted to help make school a fun, welcoming place through his books. He often talked freely about how he created his art, and he encouraged kids to create their own. Mr. Carle will be missed, and his creative art and sweet, funny stories will continue to bring joy to very eager readers all around the world.