第一部分 听力

Text 1

W: Oh, dear! I wish we had taken the lift.

M: If I had known it was so far up, I wouldn't have suggested walking.

Text 2

W: Aren't you cold? Why aren't you wearing a jacket?

M: I overslept this morning, so I ran out of the house without listening to the forecast.

Text 3

W: I'm going to order the cheeseburger with the fries. They look great on the menu.

M: I guess that's the end of your diet. I'll have the steak with potatoes, anyway.

Text 4

W: How many children have you got?

M: Two — John's five and Clara's four, and there's another one on the way.

Text 5

W: Please tell me about your work experience.

M: Well, I'm currently engaged in accounting work at Smith, where I handle our top-performing clients. But two years ago, I worked at an agency where I was on three different major national healthcare brands.

Text 6

M: You look like you've been hit by a burst of energy. What's this secret?

W: I just got back from my morning jog. It's like a hidden treasure for me. I feel supercharged.

M: Jogging? But it's freezing outside.

W: I've got this cool new collection of music that keeps me energetic. Plus, I've got my running companions.

M: Running companions, huh? Maybe I should. No more being a couch potato!

W: That's the spirit. You'll love it. Let's hit the road together. Sometime.

M: You got yourself a deal.

Text 7

M: Hi, Anna. Do you have a minute to talk about the meeting next Tuesday?

W: Sure. We said 11 a.m., didn't we?

M: Yeah, we did. But I have a bit of a problem with the time. Would it be possible to move it?

W: Oh, I see. We could postpone it to 1 p.m., for example. Or bring it forward to earlier in the morning. What would suit you?

M: Could we make it 9 o'clock? That would really help me. I have another important meeting in the central office at 12 p.m.

W: No problem. It's important that you're there.

M: Thanks a lot, Anna.

W: Do you need help with any preparation?

M: No, that's all fine. My report is ready and I'm looking forward to presenting it.

参考答案及解析

W: Great.

M: I can tell Steven about the time change. I'll see him later.

W: Don't worry about telling Steven. I'll send an e-mail to everyone to confirm the time has changed and with an updated meeting invite.

M: Great. Thanks, Anna.

Text 8

W: I noticed the photos in your living room. Did you take them yourself?

M: Yes, I took them during my trip to the mountains last summer.

W: They're so beautiful! Have you ever learned photography?

M: No, it's just a hobby. I enjoy taking photos during trips, whenever I go to beaches, mountains or cities. But I've been practicing editing photos a lot lately to improve their quality.

W: What do you enjoy most about photography?

M: I like documenting natural moments — people walking, birds flying — things that feel real.

W: That sounds good. What do you use to take photos?

M: I started with my phone, but then I changed my equipment. I bought a DSLR camera to take better pictures.

W: I'd love to learn photography. Any advice?

M: Practice as much as you can and don't be afraid to experiment. Mistakes are part of the process, and you'll learn a lot from them.

W: That's helpful. Should I take a course too?

M: It depends. You can definitely learn online or by joining a local club, but I think starting with hands-on practice is the best way to gain confidence before worrying about advanced techniques.

Text 9

M: Today I'm talking to a student, who changed her major from math to journalism. How did you get started?

W: The turning point came when I participated in a school event that required attendees to film and edit a short video centered on life. When I was filming a video, I acted on my ideas right away. That made me feel satisfied and confirmed my love for this work.

M: How is it going after you changed your major?

W: I often questioned whether I was truly suited for the media industry. "Would my love for it last once it became my job?" This was a growing concern for me.

M: So how do you manage the situation?

W: I worked for a month at a local media company. I worked as a journalist.

M: Are there any unforgettable experiences?

W: Yes. One of the most memorable interviews was with a 12-year-old girl. She surprised the audience with a piano performance, which I thought would make a good news story. Unfortunately, since the performance wasn't included in the program guide, I didn't prepare fully. The girl was also nervous during the first conversation, and due to the rushed timing, I wasn't able to collect enough content.

M: That sounds terrible.

W: Yes. But this experience taught me the importance of thorough preparation.

M: I'm truly grateful to you for bringing this to our audience.

Text 10

M: Hello, everyone. Nowadays more and more people start a podcast channel. There are around 30 million podcast episodes out there, so making sure that your podcast draws in your listeners is more important than ever. Having engaging content throughout each show is essential. Studies have shown that podcasts lose 28 percent of listeners on average in the first five minutes, which is about 10 percent higher than the drop-off rate for the midsection of the episode. A great podcast opening should show new listeners who you are, what your podcast is about, and why they should listen. But, at the same time, it needs to engage your existing audience. The best podcast openings are unique to each episode and include a preview of later content. They often include special music or sound effects. Many also have some Call-To-Action remarks, such as "Follow us for daily tips and inspiration!" This could be encouraging listeners to follow you on the podcast platform.

第一节

One possible version:

Dear Ms. Smith,

I'm truly sorry for not submitting the English dubbing video of my favorite film on time. I feel really bad about this delay and appreciate you taking the time to check in with me.

Last week, I suddenly came down with a bad cold. The doctor advised me to rest for a few days to recover. Now I'm feeling much better, and plan to finish the dubbing and editing in the next two days. Would it be okay if I submit the video by the end of this Wednesday?

Apologize again for any inconvenience and thank you for your understanding.

Yours,

Li Hua

第二节

One possible version:

Mary tried her best to calm down and said, “Everyone, it's time to make a decision!” Hearing her words, everyone turned and looked at her. Taking a deep breath, Mary proposed a plan to determine the direction based on the landmarks observed before. Realizing making decisions means taking responsibilities, Mary gave others a firm stare. Although this decision was risky, the team chose to believe in her and decided in full agreement to move forward according to her guidance. After hours of exhausting hike, they finally walked out of the fog and found the legendary secret camp.

This experience was like sunshine that brightened the dark in Mary's heart. Back at school, she volunteered to organize the autumn field trip — listing spots, asking classmates' ideas, and checking forecasts and so on. The botanical garden trip she planned impressed everyone. At lunch, she no longer hesitated. Instead, she suggested new dishes to friends, who now turned to her for ideas. Mary learned to listen to her inner voice and also learned to seek help and advice from others when necessary, which enabled her to make significant progress in both academic and interpersonal relationships. Every challenge and attempt is a precious opportunity to discover and improve yourself.
